SCOUTS WILL HAVE BEACONS BURNING ACROSS CANADA

Brightly burning beacons the length and breadth of Canada will, in age-old style, signal the crowning of a King on May 12th.

This unique feature in connection with the Coronation of His Majesty King George VI will be handled by the Boy Scouts of Canada, according to announcement made by Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., K.C., LL.D., president of the Canadian General Council of the Boy Scouts Association.

Calling to Scout Leaders to take the initiative in organizing celebrations on the occasion of the Coronation of His Majesty, who is Scout King of 86,000 Canadian Boy Scouts, Sir Edward recalled the most successful coast-to-coast beacon chain in 1935 marking the Silver Jubilee of the late King George V. It was the first time that an organized beacon celebration on such a scale was ever attempted in Canada and was a splendid success, due to the interest taken in the event by the Boy Scouts and the great co-operation given them by the general public.

As public celebrations will likely be left largely to municipalities, Boy Scouts will again have opportunity to show on a large scale that their organization is one of Canada's important public service bodies, whose training produces young and old citizens of public spirit and enterprise.

Details of the Boy Scout participation in the Canadian Coronation celebrations have not yet been completed. It is understood, however, that the celebration will follow along lines similar to those which proved so successful on the occasion of the Silver Jubilee of His late Majesty, King George V. It is proposed that wherever civic committees have already been appointed for local celebrations, Scout Leaders should approach them and offer their close co-operation. In localities where no celebration have been planned, Scouts will in a probability take the initiative, and seek the aid of civic authorities or heads of other organizations in planning appropriate celebrations.

In arranging the coast to coast beacon fires, Scout Leaders will gain select coastal headlands, mountains, and hills; for sites, and the message of loyalty will be carried from east to west, and from the international boundary to the Arctic Circle.

J. M. WHEATLEY RETAINS HIS SEAT BLACKFOOT COUNCIL

The Calgary Herald: Jonathan M. Wheatley, unofficial U.F.A. candidate remains councillor of the Municipal District of Blackfoot despite protests of Otto D. Christensen unofficial Social Credit candidate who was defeated in the election by one vote according to a judgement handed down in district court Friday morning by Judge W. A. MacDonald.

Christensen declared the election of Wheatley was invalid because of irregularities at the polling booth. Among his claims of irregularities were the following:

- (1) That the ballot of one of the voters L. P. Schooning was not "at once" deposited in the ballot box by the deputy returning officer but was put aside for one and a half hours in a tobacco tin and was "seriously" deposited in the ballot box.
- (2) That Christina Naylor, was allowed to vote despite the fact she was not a resident of the district.
- (3) That Mrs. Jonathan Wheatley, agent of Jonathan Wheatley, the successful candidate, "did speak and boast in a loud manner and write notes to the deputy returning officer at the polling booth."
- (4) That Jonathan Wheatley acted "in a loud and obnoxious manner" at the polling booth and "did carry on a running commentary regarding the course of voting."
- (5) That Mr. Wheatley, before the close of the poll, said to persons present: "Well, boys, would you like to bet on the result?"

Judge MacDonald pointed out that in regard to claim No. 1 the deputy

TWO INDIANS ARE FATALLY BURNED EARLY SUNDAY

A call for help was received about 2 a.m. Sunday at the Indian hospital coming from the Indian coal mine south east of Cluny where an overheated stove had set fire to one of the mine buildings, occupied by Yellow Fly. In the building had been sleeping Yellow Fly, his helper Buster Vandall and four of Yellow Fly's boys. The two men upon waking found themselves surrounded by flames. The youngest boy only two years old and well known as Touchy was by himself and had already been suffocated, the other three boys through the frantic efforts of Yellow Fly and Vandall were saved but not without serious injuries being received by the rescuers. Buster Vandall passed away on Sunday afternoon having his body covered with deep burns with over half the surface being scorched. Two nurses, Miss McNaughton and Miss McLeod together with Constable Thurston arrived at the mine property a short hour after receiving the message. Corporal Ashby, Dr. Farquharson, coroner and G. H. Gooderham followed shortly afterwards. Upon their arrival everything possible was done to alleviate the suffering of the two men, who were then transferred to the hospital here. Yellow Fly received severe burns and to him the shock was very great.

The exact origin of the fire is unknown. Yellow Fly had arrived at his home sometime after midnight having left part of his family with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Boy Chief, living near the Arrowwood bridge. A wood fire was started then and before long everybody was asleep. It is believed that in some unaccountable way the fire spread from the stove to the building. Buster Vandall arrived a few days before from his home at Gunn, Alta., where his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vandall are still living. Ben Vandall is well known in the Edmonton district having occupied the position of interpreter at the Winterburn reserve office.

Buster Vandall has been here helping Yellow Fly with his farming operations in previous years. He was intending to help with the seeding again this year.

The loss will be partly the mine's and partly Yellow Fly's since the furniture, etc. were the latter's property. Miscellaneous nearby buildings were saved, also Teddy's new car which was close by and locked, the keys being lost in the fire. Both men escaped only in their night attire and were unable to save their clothes.

An inquest was not deemed necessary. The funeral of Mr. Vandall took place Monday, interment being made near Cluny.

Returning officer segregated the ballot for a period, because it was disputed. He could find nothing in the Municipal District of Blackfoot at the point and had apparently no respect to receive ballot of doubtful or disputed validity. To put the ballot in a tobacco tin, covered the tin with the lid, and placed it on a shelf close to him. An hour or two later, he received a letter which removed the doubt he had entertained and he put the ballot in the ballot box. "There is no justification at all for the contention that this was done surreptitiously," Judge MacDonald said in his judgement.

Respecting the claims regarding the conduct of Mr. and Mrs. Wheatley, Judge MacDonald said he was satisfied, on the evidence, that nothing Wheatley or his agent did or said interfered in any way with the free exercise of the franchise by any one entitled to vote, and the matters complained of were "trivial, immaterial and inconsequential."

Judge MacDonald found that Christina Naylor was "clearly entitled to vote, as she was only absent from the district temporarily while taking a business course at Cluny."

A free opportunity was afforded the voters to express their will and the secrecy of the ballot was not jeopardized," Judge MacDonald said in his judgement. "Looking at the situation of the situation, I find it impossible to say that any omission, informality or irregularity revealed in the evidence, was

COMMITTEE WILL SHOW PICTURES ON MAY FIFTH

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange, Director of "Crop Testing Plan"

The spring wheat crops now being seeded in Western Canada and in the northwestern parts of the United States, will be anxiously watched by the whole world, for the progress of these two crops will unquestionably have an important effect upon wheat prices during the coming months.

As these crops flourish, price will tend to decline, but should their prospects become lessened, then price will tend to rise.

What are the actual prospects at this moment?

Measure records collected and compiled daily from over 600 rain gauges in Western Canada by the research department of Seale Grain Co. indicate that probably never has the Canadian crop—and this refers to the U.S.A. crop also—started with so much promise as in 1937.

Records show that at the moment Alberta has only 80 per cent of the normal subsoil moisture, Saskatchewan 57 per cent and Manitoba 68 per cent.

This means that if an average crop (which would be about 400 million bushels on our present western wheat acreage) is to be secured, that very much better than average rainfall—which average is about 8 inches—must occur between this time and August 1st next.

Rainfall, therefore, will be the important factor to watch.

The following factors have tended to raise price: Rumania temporarily prohibits wheat exports. Broomhall may raise import requirements estimate. Ruins needed to condition soil for seeding in southern hemisphere. Cold weather retard Russian spring seedings. Polish winter crop prospects doubtful. Spring seedings delayed in U.S. Spain still contracting for wheat.

The following factors have tended to lower price: Rain break long drought in Central China. Australian wheat estimate increased 15 million. U.S. government estimate winter wheat crop at 656 million. Beneficial rains in Western Canada. Uncertainty of gold policy in Great Britain and U. S. France removes import license taxes on apples and pears.

The baseball club is calling a meeting for Friday night in the club room at 8:30.

The many friends of Wm. Busby will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from his recent illness.

It's all right to dress well, but remember the creases in your pants are of less importance than the creases in your forehead.

Of a nature calculated to produce a substantial effect on the result. The principles laid down in the act were observed and the will of the voters should not be set aside by reason of any or all of the matters complained of. The motion will be dismissed with costs."

Hugh Farthing, K.C. of Calgary, acted for Mr. Wheatley, who retains his office as councillor, and A. J. Shumacher, of Calgary, acted for Mr. Christensen, the unsuccessful candidate.

REGULAR MEETING HELD BY LADIES SOCIAL CREDIT GROUP

On Thursday afternoon, April 15th, the Meadowbrook Ladies Social Credit Group met at the home of Mrs. Kenneth McPhee. Thirteen members and friends were present and Mrs. R. B. Hayes occupied the chair in the absence of Miss Bell the president. After the roll call the minutes of the last meeting were read and a very lengthy correspondence dealt with.

The group unanimously supported a motion to assist with a Sunday afternoon broadcast from the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute and the sum of $15 was voted for that purpose.

Mrs. Orville Calkins read a very interesting paper entitled Diseases. A very fainty tea was served by the hostess and her assistants.

The next meeting will be held on April 29th at the home of Mrs. Henry Sammons.

GLEICHEN UNITED CHURCH

Rev. J. N. Wilkinson, Minister. Mrs. H. Birch, choir leader. Miss Jean Farquharson, pianist. 11 a.m. Church School.

7:30 p.m. Devotion. Worship. Subject: "The teaching of the Sermon on the Mount compared with those of the founders of other great religious systems e.g. Buddha, Confucius, etc. As one compares these teachings certain resemblances are noticeable. The question arises, did all these moral teachings have a common origin or did some copy from others? Were the writers of the Old and New Testaments the only ones that were inspired or did God reveal Himself to other nations as well? Definite answers will be given to these questions."

FROM THE FILES OF GLEICHEN CALL TWENTY YEARS AGO

Frank Pobs's family has returned from the promised land of the State of Washington to farm south west of the Gleichen bridge. Frank has discovered that old Alberta is not so bad after all.

The Queenstown farmers in conjunction with the Cluny farmers have subscribed shares enough to build an elevator with a capacity of 55,000 bushels.

In a school house, not far away, a minister holds services every Sunday afternoon, while outside the school at the same time some of the young fellows play baseball.

P. Mills and family have returned from California and have again gone to work.

Even the way things are selling at the different sales this spring it looks as though it would pay everybody to sell out and buy new goods.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Collins are happy in the arrival of a daughter on Tuesday 17th.

Miss F. Bower has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the local Red Cross branch.

According to letters from France Pte. W. C. Johnston has again been wounded severely in the foot. This is the third time he has been wounded.

It is reported that Capt. F. L. Shuldace has been wounded in the leg.

M. Fielder arrived Tuesday from Moosemin. Sask.

J. J. Langlow of Tacoma, Was. was in town for a few days this week.

O. E. Ahman of Spokane, spent a few days in town last week.

Wm. Gordon returned last week from the Sarcee reserve, where he spent some weeks on departmental business.

Nels and Oscar Patterson arrived last week from Fernwood, Idaho. G. H. Jordan, Herbert Birkman and J. Smith were visitors from Edmonton Friday.

R. C. Alymer and A. Howard reached Monday from Twin Valley, Minn. It is said it is their intention to purchase a farm.

"Who is that close mouthed fellow over there?" "He ain't close-mouthed. He is just waitin' for the janitor to come back with the spittoon."

SPACE NEXT WEEK

If some folks listen to the alarm clock in the morning like they watch the time clock in the afternoons there'd be less of this continual dissatisfaction between capital and labor.

A lot of men have been lured into matrimony by those deceptive advertisements showing a beautiful young bride gazing rapturously at a new electric stove, or going into ecstasies over a new washing machine.

Wasting A National Asset

Much money is being spent and a vast quantity of ink is being spilled in efforts to improve the quality of livestock and the produce of plant life, the better to serve the demand for a high standard of commodities, but what of the efforts that are being made to raise the physical standard of the human race to a comparable degree?

Have the governments of the country—and that means the people themselves—awakened to a realization of the importance of health, not only to the individuals themselves but to the nation as an entity?

Has the time yet arrived when legislation, expenditures and actions can be pointed to as indicative of the belief that the health and life of a human being are more important than those of a valuable cow?

The answer to such questions is at least open to debate insofar as results are concerned, for the weight of evidence lends strong support to statements that the health of the human race is deplorable and that national vitality, the world over, is deteriorating. The process has been going on for centuries and so far the tide has not turned in the other direction, despite amazing advances in the realm of medical science in recent decades.

Professor Wallace says: "For 5,000 years man has been steadily going back physically." Professor Trifoglio, English specialist on Race Degeneracy, says: "The race is growing weaker. Its vitality is being sapped by the life we lead and by being wantonly ignorant of hygienic facts available to all" and that "insanity has increased 400 per cent. in 52 years." Professor Jordan of Leeland Stanford says: "We are degenerating."

All these and many other outstanding authorities on both sides of the Atlantic are quoted by Rev. George D. Falls in the current issue of "Health," official organ of the Health League of Canada.

And lest the reader should surmise that these strictures are applicable only to the British Isles and the United States Mr. Falls points out that out of 361,605 Canadians examined in war years, 181,229 were discounted physically at some point and that quite recently only seven per cent. of 150,000 children examined in a Canadian city were perfect in sight, hearing, teeth and heart action.

So many outstanding authorities are quoted by Mr. Falls that he leaves little opportunity for denial that the human race is degenerating physically on this continent as well as on the other side of the Atlantic.

That progressive continuation of such a condition as these authorities reveal must ultimately terminate in extinction there can be little doubt, and in the light of rapidly accelerating knowledge of the human body and recent discoveries in the art of diagnosis and the science of medical treatment, one can only wonder why and how long people will be content to suffer ill health and hasten towards the insane asylum and an early grave.

The truth of the matter is that ignorance, indifference and indolence are the indictable indices in the chapter of degenerating ill health, through which the human race is passing and until this is realized there can be little hope for a halt in this wastage of national and individual asset—good health.

Many are suffering because of a lack of knowledge of the laws of health. Many are ailing because of a false attitude towards their condition. Many are afflicted with aches and pains because, even though they have the knowledge of prevention, they lack the will power to deny themselves to ephemeral pleasures, in order to gain or retain the greatest measure of happiness to be found in stamina, vigor and all round physical well-being.

The dwindling necessity for the use of physical exertion in order to live, the abuse of the automobile, the increasing tendency to live on highly refined and denatured foodstuffs and increasing availability of luxuries—these are the factors which tend to hasten racial degeneracy.

One would not turn back the wheels of progress by banishing labor-saving equipment or by eliminating the automobile of today and the aeroplane of tomorrow. But if people are to enjoy modern luxuries and improvements they cannot do so at the expense of their general health.

It is quite apparent that for many the solution of the problem lies in more exercise in the form of work or participation in sports, or both and in a more simple diet. Exercise, fresh air, natural foods, sufficient sleep, and moderation in all things—these are the principal elements in the construction of a healthy body, the prime essential to human happiness.

Admiralty Announces 140 Will Participate In Coronation Fleet

The admiralty announced that 140 warships would participate in the coronation review off Spithead on May 20. Units of the home fleet will arrive there on May 14, followed by the Mediterranean and reserve fleets.

On May 21 the newly-crowned king will board the Southampton and visit the flagships of the different fleets. That evening the warships will disperse to their stations.

FORMER CRIPPLE NOW PLAYS TENNIS

Rheumatism In Feet Relieved

Here is a story of a young man who had almost given up hope of taking part in active sports with his fellow again. He tells how he tried one remedy after another, and how finally a former sufferer put him on the way to recovery.

"Two years ago I started with pains in the feet which gradually got worse. I tried everything under the sun but to no effect. Whilst waiting for treatment one evening, another patient advised me to try Kruschen Salt. That was twelve months ago! The relief was not sudden, but the pain and swelling gradually left my feet, and in six months I was able to take long walks into the country. This year I have played a good deal of tennis, a thing which I had begun to think I should never do again."—C.W.

Rheumatic pain and swelling is frequently caused by excess uric acid accumulations in the body. Kruschen contains two ingredients which are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid deposits. Other ingredients in Kruschen assist the internal organs to expel this dissolved acid from the system.

Thousands Spent For Flowers

London People Preparing Window Displays For Coronation

Thousands of dollars are being spent for a large scale coronation floral display which will vie with the gay flags and bunting for color and beauty.

So great are the demands for window box plants that florists are finding difficulty fulfilling orders and a shortage of skilled workers is feared.

The flowers chiefly to be used include: Rhododendron, azalea, pink, white and blue hydrangeas, white narguerite, red and blue cinerarias, scarlet geranium, yellow gentiana and acacia and asparagus "fern."

The Admiralty Arch will bear the most spectacular floral decorations. Along the top will be window boxes filled with yellow azaleas and blue hydrangeas. On each side of the central arch a crown of flowers and leaves, measuring 10 feet by 10 feet, will be placed. The leaves will be sprayed with silver and gold. Hanging baskets filled with flowers will decorate each of the six arches.

The city's colors, scarlet and white, will be used in the flower decorations at Mansion House, the residence of the lord mayor. The gateway at Hyde Park corner, through which the coronation procession will pass, will bear a 900-foot strip of pink rhododendrons.

It is estimated that, should bees perish from the earth, more than half the flowers would vanish also.

The first geodetic survey in the United States was made in 1841 by Simon Borden.

Parrots have been known to reach the age of 75 years. 2197

The Perfect Woman

Medical Adviser at Toronto University Has Made Discovery

The perfect woman is to be found on the University of Toronto campus. Dr. Edith Gordon, medical adviser for women at the college, knows who she is but refuses to tell.

Dr. Gordon, who examines co-eds for physical education, said it was the first time in 15 years one of them has met requirements of a perfect figure.

"I have been examining students for 15 years and each year I live in hopes of meeting the perfect woman," she told the physical education section of the Ontario Educational Association. "This year I met her."

"Sometimes their backs are too long or too short, sometimes they have too long a neck or too short a neck, sometimes their thighs are too long or too short. It is most interesting, this study of symmetry and proportion."

"And when you find a perfect one, it is as great a thrill as when you find a beautiful piece of statuary—only more so because it is living."

Military Blankets Worth $32,233 Furnished Families In Drouth Areas

Military blankets worth $32,233 were furnished destitute families in the drouth areas of the prairie provinces from defence department stores, it was revealed in an order-in-council tabled in the house of commons.

On the recommendation of Labor Minister Rogers the council voted $32,233 from the special supplementary estimates for the closing fiscal year to an open account in the books of the department of finance, "to be used as required for replacement of the said blankets."

Overcome Bodily Ailments

Dr. D. E. Robertson, noted Toronto surgeon and hero of the Moose River battle rescue nearly a year ago, believes physical disability is "pretty much a mental attitude."

He told the health section of the Ontario Educational association annual convention that a crippled child, well equipped mentally, could make greater progress in school than a normal child who had not the same difficulties to overcome.

President Roosevelt of the United States was the perfect example of a person overcoming physical disability. He had recovered from infantile paralysis.

Touching further on that disease, Dr. Robertson said no one had the right to believe that serum could change the course of infantile paralysis.

Sailors Are Well Trained

Member of British Navy Tells What They Can Do

John Harvey, in a letter to the Sarnia Canadian Observer, says: Please allow me to correct you re sailors and bachelor buttons, and sailors not being able to sew buttons on. For the benefit of the Sea Scouts let me state that bachelor buttons are not allowed on board H.M. ships. The clothing officer would throw your pants over the side if he saw a bachelor button on them. Boys are taught to cut and make their own suits, shirts, and knit socks. Aboard the larger vessels there is a "sewing firm," which will take your six yards of serge and one yard of blue jeans and make you a suit to measure, also retape your collars. Aboard destroyers, most men do this themselves, the stokers making pants out of farnegoot (a thick blanket material) to wear in the stockhold. We also did our own washing and mangle (with a rolling pin and board). The longest time I was aboard ship was at the outbreak of war. I left Malta in August, 1914, and went ashore again November, 1915. During that time a lot of buttons came off, and I am proud to say I can sew, darn, wash and cook a dinner as good as any woman. Thanks to my training in the British Navy.

Old Age Pensions

Payments to the Blind May Start in Some Provinces Ahead of Others

Old age pension payments to the blind may start in some provinces ahead of others. Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of finance, told the house of commons. In some provinces the necessary legislation is on the statutes to make the Dominion act effective by regulation. Others will have to await the passage of the enabling acts.

As some provincial legislatures were in session, Mr. Dunning asked and was given speedy approval of senate amendments to the bill.

THE YELLOW BRIAR

A Story of the Irish on the Canadian Countryside
By PATRICK SLATER
By arrangement with Thomas
Allen, Publisher, Toronto.

CHAPTER II.—Continued

He shifted his seat on the bench with the slow, clumsy, angular motions of an Irishman whose feelings are aroused.

Three or four cronies were with him, and in their secretive-like way, they had been calavering together. Your Cot makes a secret even of his old city delay. It is hidden in the hand and smoked furtively from the side of the mouth. He smokes as if nursing a sore left jaw. We Irish are not very trustful; and sometimes that fact makes us not very trustworthy.

There were slow, knowing Celtic nods in the room as face solemnly answered to face.

"Purgatory is not for the likes of them," declared Mr. O'Hagan, marking the mournful occasion by filling his pipe with borrowed tobacco.

"St. Peter—God bless him—claps every Mason into hell to be boiled in oil."

A long silence set in.

Mrs. O'Hagan planted herself in the doorway. She wore a dirty short skirt; and her arms were akimbo.

"It is swelled up you are, Bridget," he told her, as he twisted his neck and spat on the floor. "It is butter-milk you have been drinking."

"It be," said Mrs. O'Hagan.

"If it be a boy," observed Mr. O'Hagan, "Holy Jesus be praised!"

round the corner from their lodge meeting, the Masons got a thorough going over that night. The liquor Mr. O'Hagan and his friends had drunk ran hot in their veins, and their emotions were on fire. The murder of poor William Morgan was canvassed in all its gruesome details.

"I mind well the said William Morgan," declared Mr. O'Hagan, after the story had been talked out. "He worked at John Doe's brewery, not a block away from where you are sitting."

It was a creepy tale of plotted murder they told. Of course, I do not remember the details as given that evening. But I know the story well enough. How could it be otherwise?

For fifty years the fate of William Morgan was discussed, on and off and pro and con, before every fireside in Upper Canada.

Morgan, it appeared, claimed to be a Free Mason from Canada, and a lodge at Rochester was careless and let him in. He proposed to get out a book divulging the secrets of the craft. A hot story was promised the gullible public.

The local craftsmen at Rochester were greatly disturbed. They were about, as usual, giving orders. His daughter, Violet, was making up a feather bed in the double bedded room upstairs over the bar. No sign saw of I sought untoward. The first meeting of King Solomon's Lodge, No. 22, G.R.C., had evidently passed off without any one being hurt.

Young Jack Trueman may have heard more of that lodge meeting than was intended for his ears; or perhaps he had the gift of a powerful imagination. He claimed to have hidden under the bed in the back bedroom upstairs, with his ear to the partition. In any event, the matter was much on his mind; and, in the afternoon, he herded a dozen youngsters into the Trueman stable to hold a lodge meeting of his own. I was in charge of the door; and Jack had a hammer and an empty beer barrel.

He gave the barrel three smart knocks; and we all came to attention. "What now, brethren, is our first care?" he demanded, in the heavy

There was a splash. The boat returned to shore. The three separated without a further word being spoken. "The dirty heretics!" observed Bridget, calmly. "And it is the likes of them that look down on the likes of us!"

What seemed to disturb Mr. O'Hagan's mind, in connection with the story, was not the fact that the poor man had been murdered by the Masons—expected nothing better of them. He was wrathful because Masonry was so powerful that the state did not bring the murderers to justice.

"Oh, yes!" he told us, as he sucked at his cutty, "we had midnight burnings and horrible murders in Ireland; but if one peeked through the window, he saw the soldiery leading off the miserable creatures in irons to trial and to death."

The story of William Morgan brought disrepute to the Masonic Order, and an attempt of disrepute to the minds of the neighbors of every member of the craft. I mention it now, merely because it is a fair example of the unbridled prejudices of the times, which charged against every great body of men the reckless acts of its individual members. Every child knows nowadays, that the Free Masons have a beautiful system of morality veiled in allegory and illustrated by symbols. In their retreats of friendship and brotherly love, they help, ever conceal and never reveal—and which are very suitable for Sunday school instruction—but because they form a harmless and respectable body of my fellow countrymen. There is no unkindly feeling in my old Catholic heart toward any of the secret, fraternal, racial or religious societies that infest this young country. It is only nature for a bird's feather to flock together. Such societies may all have some uses toward a common good; but there is a savour of snobbery at the basis of them all. They tend also to keep asunder Canadians who otherwise might more freely break the bread of patriotism at a common board and offer up to a land of freedom the full measure of their united and sincere devotion. Religious and lodge influences in public affairs have been a blighting curse. To get anywhere in my day, the aspirant had to be a bigot or a joiner; and, even today, there are poor prospects for any respectable loose fish.

There never was any question as to the kidnapping of Morgan. In January, 1877, Edward Sawyer and two other members of the craft, plotted guilty in New York State "to conspiring to seize and carry William Morgan from goal to foreign parts and thence continually to secrete and imprison him." Sawyer was given a month in jail.

The other side of the story was that Morgan had been helped to run away to Canada to avoid his creditors.

"But," as Mr. O'Hagan exclaimed, "if the said William Morgan was alive, why did they not produce the man and save their ugly faces?"

The next morning early I slipped around to see what had happened at the Tavern, Tyrone. His daughter, Violet, was making up a feather bed in the double bedded room upstairs over the bar. No sign saw of I sought untoward. The first meeting of King Solomon's Lodge, No. 22, G.R.C., had evidently passed off without any one being hurt.

Little Helps For This Week

Now the peace of God keep you perfect in every good work, to do His will, working in you that which is well pleasing in His sight. Hebrews 13:20-21

So, firm in steadfast thought, in hope secure, In full accord to all Thy world of joy, May I be nerved to labors high and pure, And Thou, Thy child to do Thy work, complete.

Be with God in outward works, refer and offer them to Him, seek to do them for Him and He will be with them, and they shall not hinder but rather invite His presence in thy soul. Seek to see God in all things and He will come nigh to thee. Nothing less than the mercy of God and the powers of the world to come can maintain the peace and sanctity of our homes, the spirit of patience and mercy in our hearts. Then will even the meanest drudgery of daily case to humble us when we transfigure it by the glory of our own spirit.

Canada's Population

Estimated at 11,000,000, According to Latest Returns at Ottawa. The estimated population of Canada in 1927 is 11,000,000, according to a return based in the house of commons from the department of trade and commerce.

At the last census in 1931, the population was 10,776,783. Natural increase of births over deaths was estimated at 135,956 a year.

In the decade from 1921 to 1931 immigrants admitted to Canada numbered 1,186,290. In the same period the natural increase of population was estimated at 1,362,000.

Just Statistics

For the statistically-minded, Montreal came forward with this: If one fireman alone had climbed as much ladder as all the city's firefighters did together in 1936, he could have climbed 41,884 feet. And Montreal court stenographers last year banged out 10,000,000 words—123 miles of words.

Of all the thousands of minor planets, only one is visible to the naked eye. That one is Vesta, a tiny planet with a diameter of only 210 miles.

THIS BACKACHE IS AN AGONY

KIDNEYS WILL CAUSE IT! Suffering kidneys let poison accumulate in your system. Backache, lumbago and rheumatism pain often follow. Gin pills will give you the relief you need to ease your backache, get your system straight and keep your health!

Only Kind She Knew A solicitor at Brentford County Court in England the other day was questioning a woman witness on distances. "Was it as far as from here to the reporter?" he asked. "Where is the reporter?" said the witness. The solicitor pointed to the press box. The woman exclaimed: "Oh, is that the reporter? I thought they always were their hairs."

More than 2,000 historic German castles have been partially restored to serve as hotels for hikers.

Myth Is Exploded

Believe Cities Are Safe From Destruction By Bombing Planes The theory—often advanced as the dread certainty—that great cities such as Paris or, more remotely, New York, could be razed and their civil populations slaughtered by the sudden swoop of an enemy air force was considered fantastic on the basis of military aviation's actual performance in the Spanish civil war.

The opinion was advanced by government pilots who have used the latest air equipment in air battles which were unequalled for the number of planes involved. On the contrary they assert, almost undeviating cities are, in a measure, safe from destruction even from bombing raids by superior fleets of aircraft.

The bill of the modern bird is lightly constructed. Even those of hornbills and toucans are surprisingly light.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas Young must feel very proud of their son Doug, captain of the world champion hockey team the Detroit Red Wings. Doug broke his leg while playing hockey some weeks ago and it is not known just how much he was able to do in directing his team mates to victory. This is the second time Doug's team has captured the Stanley Cup. Doug can rest assured that Gleichen extends to him and his team the heartiest congratulations.

Last Thursday and Friday was pay day for the Indians. At that time they received their annual lease money payments. Everybody received dividends, and in real Dominion currency of $25 each. The Indians proceeded to blow in their good fortune and the local merchants did a roaring business. Late in the afternoon the Indians chartered buses to take them to Calgary where they gave the city the once over.

Clarence Pleasant of Eventide Home died Saturday at the age of 80 years and ten months. The funeral took place Monday afternoon at 2.30 to Eventide cemetery, funeral services being conducted by Adj. J. Sutherland and assistants of the Salvation Army. Mr. Pleasant was born in Russia and came to Alberta in 1864 according to available records and has spent practically all of his life in this province. He had been living at the Home for the past six months having come here from Medicine Hat.

A very successful and enjoyable card party was held at the home of Mrs. A. Wilson one evening last week when thirteen tables of bridge and whist were played. There were 57 people present. The prizes were won by the following: bridge first Mrs. Downey and Art Clifford; consolation Paul Pirard. Whist first Mrs. Cunningham and Lev Desjardine; consolation Robert Burne. At midnight a delicious lunch was served after which music and singing was enjoyed for the balance of the evening.

A meeting is called for Thursday night, April 22nd in the Legion Hall at 8 p. m., for the purpose of trying to reorganize the Golf Club. All interested are invited to attend. The Golf Club has not been very active for the past two years and if some interest is shown it will be impossible to hold the lease at the present course. As most small towns in Alberta have golf clubs it is too bad that Gleichen should be behind in this respect. If the club is to continue make an effort to be present.

Many pharmaceutical products come from live stock, such as benzoated lard and pepsin and other medicinal tablets from pigs, blood serum, liver extract, and insulin from steers. From the casings of hogs, sausage containers, pepsin, and chitterlings (cooked) are obtained, just to mention a few, while from the head have are canned tripe, sausage, lard, glue, grease, fresh and pickled ears, cheek and head meat, sausage, tongue, fertilizer, and animal feeds. From the blood, dried blood, fertilizer, blood meal and stock feed are obtained.

Likewise from the steer there are the by-products of leather and leather belting, hair for plaster, glycerin, leather dressing, lubricants, case-hardening bone, gold beater's skin putty containers, harness, animal feeds, fertilizer, horse oil, auto upholstery, furniture upholstery, mattress stuffing, felt coverings, glue, soap, bone handles, buttons, brushes, corbs, parchment, incense, perfume and charms from gall stones, shortening, oleomargarine, gelatin, sausage casings, textile sizing, hair is shoes, felt hats, gloves and so on. There are two very interesting facts connected with this advance in industry, one, the range of the consumer is enlarged to a wonderful degree, and two, the cash returns to the producer are definitely affected and enhanced by the by-product value.

MODERN MIRACLE OF ANIMAL BY-PRODUCTS

To the ordinary person unversed in the modern production of food and commodities a steer or a pig represents merely a beefsteak or pork or bacon, but there is very much more to it than that. Ever since the introduction of chemistry into business particularly during the past 30 years the development in by-products in basic industries has been phenomenal. In no instance, perhaps, has this been more apparent than in the meat packing industry.
